A Sampling of Selected Couplets

From Baba Taher's vast body of work, a select few couplets stand out as masterpieces:

"The World is a Bazaar"

جهان، بازار است و ما همچون خران

The world is a bazaar, and we are like donkeys

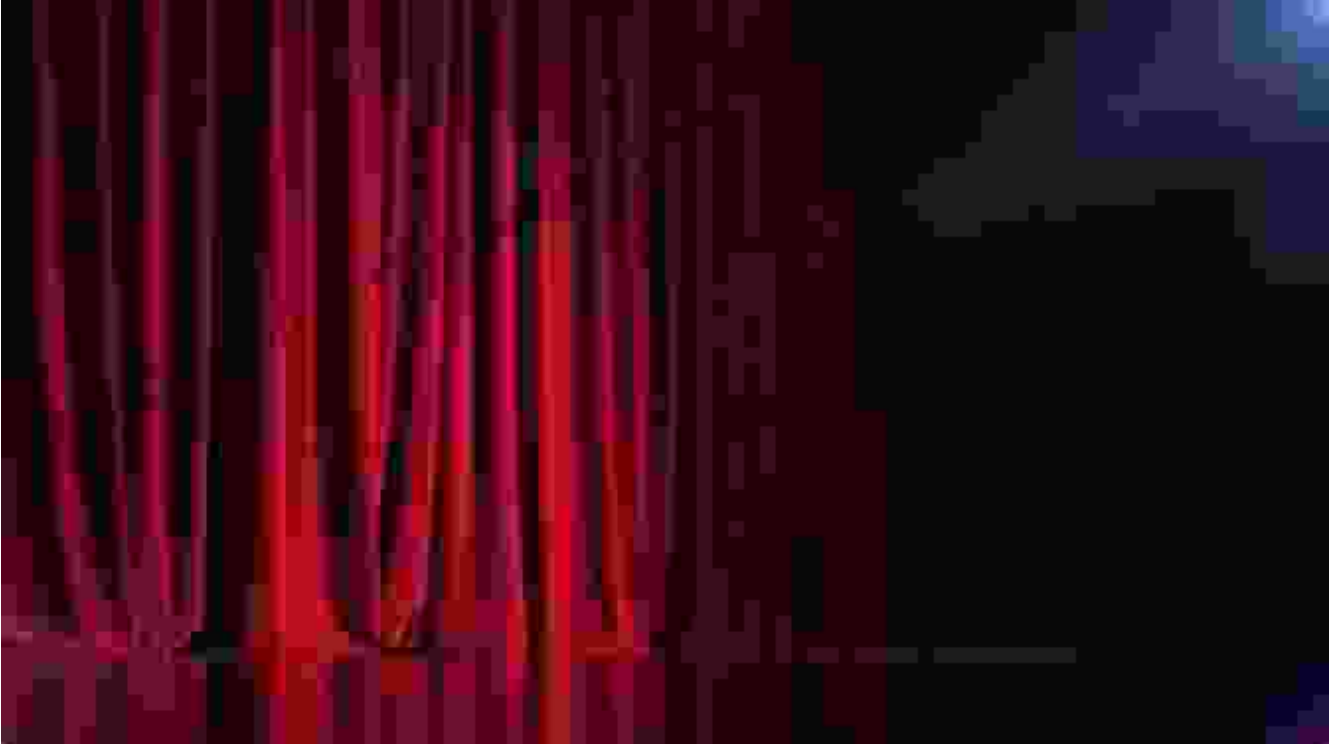

This couplet encapsulates the transient nature of life and the mundane existence of humanity. The world is depicted as a mere marketplace where individuals are reduced to beasts of burden, toiling aimlessly.

"The World's a Stage"

جهان صحنه‌ی بازیست، خلق بازیگر

The world is a stage, and the people are actors

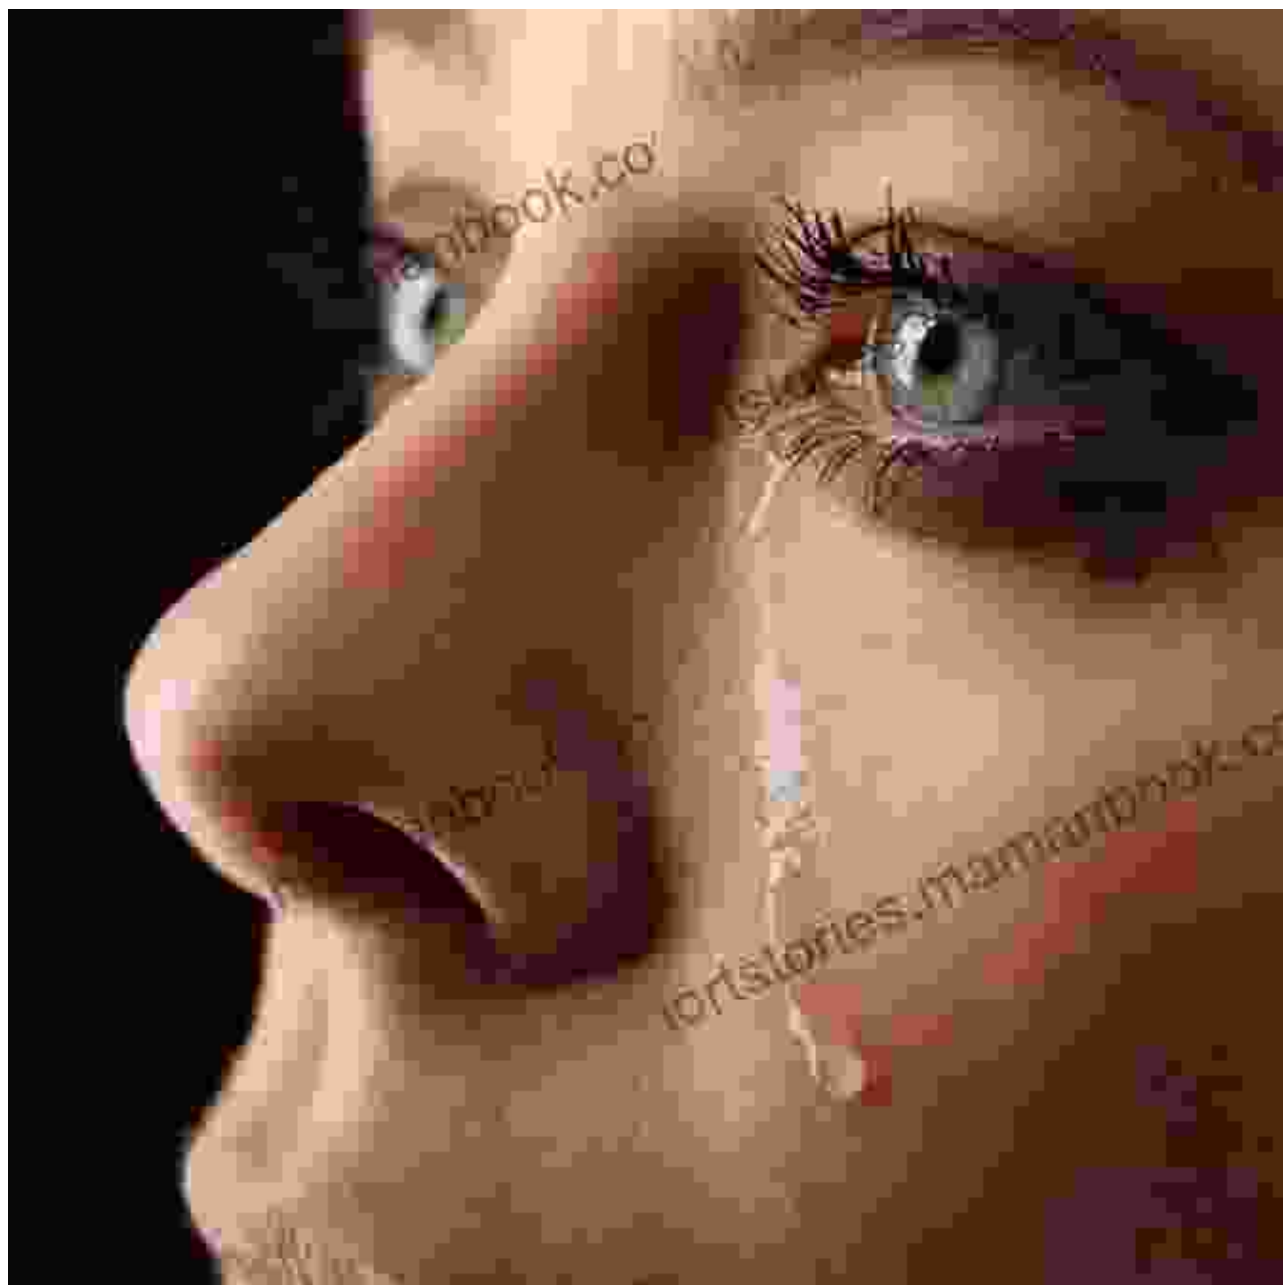

In this couplet, Baba Taher draws parallels between life and a theatrical performance. He suggests that existence is a fleeting illusion, and humans are merely players enacting their roles before an unseen audience.

"Love is a Torment"

دردیست که هرگز نشود درمانش

A pain that can never be cured

This poignant couplet expresses the bittersweet nature of love. Baba Taher portrays love as a relentless torment, an unquenchable desire that consumes the soul.

"Truth is a Lonely Journey"

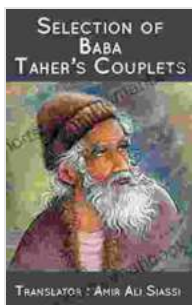

اندک اندک جمع مستان می‌کند

Little by little, the gathering of the intoxicated ones

This couplet speaks to the solitary path toward enlightenment. Baba Taher suggests that the pursuit of truth is a lonely endeavor, where individuals must tread alone, seeking refuge in the company of those who share their thirst for knowledge.

Selecting the finest of Baba Taher's couplets is a challenging yet rewarding task. By carefully considering criteria such as lyrical excellence, thematic depth, and emotional resonance, it is possible to identify those rare gems that transcend time and touch the human soul. These selected couplets serve as a testament to Baba Taher's enduring legacy as one of Persia's greatest poets and mystics, whose words continue to inspire and resonate with readers across generations.
